

A RECESSION IS AROUND THE CORNER

BUT THIS CANADIAN STOCK COULD SOAR OVER 500%

With most of the world on lockdown, irreparable financial damage has been caused and Canada has unfortunately not been spared.

Most investors' portfolios will suffer, but there are always ways to mitigate that. You just need to know where to look.

I am going to tell you about a Canadian junior gold and silver mining stock which could soar this year and through 2021 as the recession takes a toll on financial markets.

But before we get into more details, I want to take a moment to tell you about myself so that you understand why the information you're about to get is so valuable.

My name is James Campbell. I'm a financial analyst and graduate from Harvard Business School. After completing my MBA, I realized that it's not what I really love in life and decided to complete a degree in geology at Stanford before moving back to BC to work on mining projects for some of the biggest companies in the world.

There are practically no analysts in this country who have a deep understanding of both stocks and geology, and this is probably why I have been so successful picking winning stocks.

Last year, investors who bought the mining stocks I recommended made profits of more than 1,000% (more about that at the end of this letter).

I've stumbled upon what I firmly believe could be 2020's greatest Canadian success story: A mining company whose stock may be on the cusp of exploding.

Crestview Exploration, Inc

Stock symbol: CRS

Exchange: Canada

Looking through Crestview Exploration's 43-101 reports (that's the official government-approved reports that certified geologists issue) I found gold and silver... Crestview is literally sitting on billions of dollars of precious metals, but the company's share price is trading at bargains.

Crestview owns 72 claims in Nevada covering around 1,500 acres which together are called the Rock Creek Project.

The Rock Creek Project is located smack in the middle of massive mining properties which have produced more than $100 billion of gold over the last few decades (The "Carlin Unconformity" which you can google or read about on Wikipedia).

Most notable, the Goldstrike mine owned by Barrick Gold (second largest mining company in the world) located on the same "Carlin" trend and which produced more than 42 million ounce of gold to date and the Carlin mine, the Gold Quarry mine, and the Emigrant mine which together produced another 30+ million ounce of gold.

Crestview's Rock Creek follows in the footsteps of all those other famous mines... All drilling tests so far across the entire property show substantial concentrations of both gold and silver.

We are looking at potentially more than 2 million ounces of gold and 8 million ounces of silver with an above-ground value of over $4 billion based on the drill tests and historical data.

Demand for gold and silver is going through the roof, they're now trading near an all-time high and Crestview's share price could be on the verge of exploding.

The company knows it and they are moving fast. They just announced huge news:

- The successful completion of an aerial survey which identified new target veins that could contain tremendous deposits.
- An investment from a European firm which could be worth $2 million to begin drilling.
- The acquisition of new mining rights located next to their current project and which likely contains significant gold and silver deposits as well.

Why should you believe that I am right about Crestview Exploration? It's simple... I've done it before... on 3 separate occasions last year:

On January 3, 2019 I called Wallbridge Mining Co (TSX:WM) a MUST BUY stock for 2019 at 0.16 per share with upside potential of 454%. Wallbridge ended 2019 at 0.90 (a gain of 560s%)

On January 18, 2019 I issued a released an article about Alacer Gold Corp. (TSE:ASR) at $2.76 per share with a price target of $5 for the year. It closed 2019 at nearly $7 (a 250% increase)

And finally, on May 27, 2019 I identified Liberty Gold (TSE: LGD) at 0.33 with a Q4 price target of 0.75. LGD ended 2019 at over $1 (a gain of around 290%)

Gold has been the No1 safe haven throughout human history, and Crestview Exploration's properties have billions of it.

The short-term upside potential for investors buying shares of Crestview Exploration today is absolutely gigantic as the stock is extremely undervalued.

To understand how high Crestview Exploration could go, just look at how much profits my readers made buying the last 3 stocks I recommended last year (mentioned above).

Those wishing to beat the market should consider investing in shares of Crestview Exploration immediately because its share price won't stay this low much longer.

Sincerely,
James Campbell
(Stock Analyst & Geologist)